

Figure 3.3 Porphyritic granite of the Jurassic Yerington batholith, showing large purplish Kfeldspar phenocrysts, mafic crystals (hornblende and biotite) and a small, fine-grained mafic xenolith (just right of center) in a medium-grained, equigranular matrix. Scale in cm. From 3 to 5 m above floor of pluton in the southeast part of Luhr Hill.